We are always delighted to get responses from pupils which show that they are happy in school and that they learn lots about being safe. It's also great to know that, most importantly, they feel safe and know that there are thoughtful people around them as well as trusted adults and good friends to talk to. Next year, we are going to look at playground behaviour and try to establish what pupils feel about these social times and how they could be improved.

Compared to last year, pupils are more able to talk about recap of learning with their teacher in lessons. It is great to see such an overwhelmingly positive response to learning about Jesus and the Gospel. Next year, we'd like every pupil to be able to respond 'yes' to knowing about how to keep safe online.
